Background:

The Treasure Coast Wildlife Center (TCWC) is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization, dedicated to the preservation of wildlife and the conservation of natural habitats.

Our mission is to rehabilitate sick, injured and orphaned wild animals and return them to the wild. Our goal is to educate the public about different wildlife species and how they can help protect them.

TCWC operates a comprehensive medical and rehabilitative facility for the care of wild animals.

The clinic accepts thousands of wild patients each year, providing treatment for animals as diverse as bobcats, eagles, alligators and songbirds.

About 10 percent of the animals we help are "Listed" species (Endangered, Threatened, and Species of Special Concern).

TCWC is funded through public and private grants, individual donations and corporate sponsorships. Our staff consists of trained professionals and dedicated volunteers from all walks of life.

Our Environmental Educators bring outreach programs featuring live animals to a variety of schools and adult groups. They also conduct guided interpretive tours through many of the natural habitats in south Florida.

Founded by Jean Henry and Ruth Stanwood in 1974, the Treasure Coast Wildlife Hospital is the only facility of its kind in Florida serving Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River, and Okeechobee counties.
